

Professional Statement:

My name is Wren Wilson. I am analytical and driven by security event investigations, identifying exploited weaknesses and best practices for future prevention through case studies and real-time events. I have a deep appreciation for the psychology behind cyber crimes and social engineering, particularly the boundary between automated security and human error.